How it Works?

We list upcoming event on Chicmi's main website before they starts.

You can view the event detail page and press the Register button on the page - we will remind you when the event is due to start, and email you updates regarding products, delivery, shipping and payment. You can click share to invite other people, or ask questions even before event starts, all on the same page.

Once the event starts, the campaign page will transform into an online store, just coming to the same place and you can enjoy the best fashion deals share your thoughts, gossip about the sale all in the comfort of your own home!
